studying at Amrita University in Chennai.
                        I'm pursuing my passion for computer science, and I'm constantly amazed by the opportunities to learn and grow here. Beyond academics, I enjoy exploring coding projects and participating in hackathons, whether it's through clubs on campus or outings in the vibrant city of Chennai. I believe in continuous learning and collaboration, and I'm enthusiastic about connecting
